

Paul Rivet
Segment Leader
Canada & Caribbean
IBM

---

Paul joined the i2 brand in March of 2010 as Country Manager for Canada. Since then Paul has managed the public sector sales team for the i2 brand in North America before transitioning to his current role as i2 Segment Leader for Canada and the Caribbean.

Paul began his career as software developer and has been involved in technology for over 25 years working for industry leading companies in enterprise software with the last 10 years working in public safety. Paul is internationally traveled working with customers in the Middle East, Australia, Europe and across North America. In his current role, Paul supports customers across all industry verticals in discussions on technology and services that enable our clients to investigate, analyze, disrupt and defeat criminal and terrorist activity.